Broadway, at 156th St.,
New York.

Dear Sir,

Your letter is received by us and we send you three of the early Mohammetan coins (gold) as you like (that is in rubbings), If you consider these to your interest, we can deliver them at the address you indicate us.

As to their exact price, we do not know, so we shall perfectly confide in your estimation and veracity. We shall accept the full price you offer for them.

Please, send us, if you wish, the list of any further coins you desire to have, and we shall be glad to make a search to find and send them to please you, with further mail.

We remain Yours, with Sincere salutations, ready to serve you, waiting for your favorable reply, Yours Respectfully

Dear Sir:

Pardon me for not answering your letter of September 17th sooner. We have all three of the coins of which you sent rubbings. Nos. 1 and 2, the smaller gold coins, are of Kemil Ayyub, Prince of Egypt. The larger gold coin is of the next dynasty, the Memluks of Egypt. Hereafter, when sending us any rubbings, I should very much like to have you place a price upon them.

Very truly yours,

Mr. Curator

Howland Wood

Dear Sir;

I received your Nov. 4 dated letter, of which I was waiting. As to your want, these three pieces of gold coins are $ 30.- thirty dollars.

If they are well to you, please write to us, and as in usual, I give to the Consulate and after receiving them, you may send the money.
We are waiting the answer.

yours very truly,

Dear Sir:

You must have misread our letter, as we stated that we did not want any of the three coins of which you sent rubbings, but asked you to send rubbings of other coins when you should get them.

Very truly yours,
